21st Homecoming Is Next Weekend

Thursday Show Stars Charles Laughton, Actor

When the familiar figure of Charles Laughton lumbers onto the stage of Van Meter auditorium next Thursday night, Nov. 9, his arms filled to overflowing with books, an expected full house audience will not know what to expect.

The character actor of stage and screen is being brought to the Western campus by the Bowling Green Kiwanis Club and all profits will be used for underprivileged children. Admission will be $1.00 for balcony seats and $1.50 for main floor seats.

Variety In Readings
Mr. Laughton admits that he never knows in advance what he will be bringing to an audience. One critic described Laughton's readings as a "combination of the Sunday comics, an act from Julius Caesar, a roller coaster ride, and a trip through the Looking Glass."

Some people insist that Laughton has already committed to memory the selections he reads and that he uses the books merely as "props." On one occasion he was caught reading a long passage from Dickens with the book held upside down.

Confronted with this Laughton refused to comment. He confesses, however, that he enjoys reading to audiences so much because "it gives me an opportunity to play all the parts."

"Just Dig the Spirit"
A reporter recently asked Laughton what his "program" for a particular evening would be. "I don't know," the actor told him. "I may be on stage all of ten minutes before I 'dig' the spirit of the audience. Sometimes they're in a mood for the toughness of 'Caesar'; sometimes for the delicacy of 'Midsummer Night's Dream'; sometimes for the lusty story of 'David and Goliath'; sometimes for the solemnity of the 'Psalms'; sometimes for one of Dickens' Christmas stories, sometimes for one of his melodramatic passages; always for James Thurber and old

Latest Draft Data Explained

Any student receiving a draft notice should immediately go to the registrar's office and request a letter certifying his college status, if he wishes a postponement of induction.

Delay in taking this step can mean that the student will not get the postponement of induction to which he may be entitled, according to an announcement by President Paul L. Garrett, who has received a bulletin explaining the Selective Service Act as it applies to the college student.

Postponement of Induction
The following information is quoted from the October 3 bulletin of the Federal Security Agency, Office of Education in Washington, D. C., and explains the postponement of induction for a student satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction.

"Under the Selective Service Act of 1948, Section 6(j)(2), a student may have his induction postponed until the end of the academic year or until he ceases satisfactory to pursue his course of instruction, whichever is the earlier. This means that a registrant who has been classified and is not deferred is entitled to have his induction postponed until the end of the academic year if he is ordered to report for induction while satisfactorily pursuing his full-time course of instruction.

"A postponement does not change the registrant's classification and, unless there should arise reason to

Articles in Atlantic Monthly and American Mercury

Chapel Next Week Features Writer On Philosophy

Dr. Roger W. Holmes, philosopher, educator and writer will speak in chapel, November 8. His subject will be "What is a Liberal Education?" Dr. Holmes is Professor of Philosophy at Mount Holyoke College. He holds the BS, EdM, and PhD degrees from Harvard University and was awarded the Sheldon Traveling Fellowship by Harvard to study in Rome and Berlin and for travel in Palestine, Egypt, and Greece in 1928-29. In 1939 he received a Bowdoin prize from Harvard.

In 1940 Dr. Holmes was winner of the Atlantic monthly prize for an essay on "Citizenship: Its privileges and its responsibilities," and he has had other articles in The Atlantic Monthly, American Mercury, and Professional Journals.

Three books: "The Idealism of Giovanni Gentile," "The Rhythm of Reason," and "Exercises in Reasoning" were published from 1937 to 1940.

In 1947 Dr. Holmes was granted a sabbatical leave for a trip around the world and spent three months visiting Indian universities. During this time he met Gandhi and Nehru.

Woody Herman Engaged For Military Ball

The Western air and ground ROTC units have announced Friday, December 8, as the date for the annual Military Ball. The ball, one of the top social functions of the school year, will feature Woody Herman and his new orchestra.

This year's ball, which will include the gala coronation of the Military Queen, will be held in the Western gymnasium from 9:00 p. m. to 1:00 a. m.

Woody Herman, a veteran of show business for approximately 30 years, was an established vaudeville performer when he was only 9 years of age. He was billed as "The Boy Wonder of the Clarinet."

As a boy performer, Woody was featured in singing, dancing, clarinet, and saxophone solos. At the age of 14, he left vaudeville to engage in a series of jobs with local bands in Milwaukee, his home town.

In March of 1946, Woody Herman and his orchestra were presented at Carnegie hall in New York in a concert of modern American music. At that time Woody first performed the "Ebony Concerto" written for him by Igor Stravinsky.

The Herman aggregation is under recording contract to Capital records at the present time. In 1945 the Herman "herd" was voted the "Nation's Number One Band" in five nation-wide polls.

Judge Bartlett To Speak Founder's Day Here November 15

Judge Clarence Bartlett of Hartford, Ky., member of the Western Board of Regents, will deliver the Founders Day address in Van Meter auditorium on November 15.

His subject will be "What the Founders of Western Founded."

This is to be the twentieth annual observance of Founders Day by Western in honor of its founder, Dr. H. H. Cherry.

Last year's speaker was State Senator Wendell Butler of Edmonton. Service plaques were also presented to those who had served for as long as twenty-five years on the Hill.

Chapel, Queen Coronation, Eastern Game Top Events

Western's annual Homecoming celebration scheduled for November 10 and 11 has every indication of being one of the most colorful in the history of the event which started in 1927. Many traditional Homecoming festivities will be incorporated in this year's schedule for Homecoming, but the main event slated for 2 p. m. at the Western stadium overshadowed all other activities.

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE John A. Whitaker, of the Second Congressional District, will attend the Western-Eastern Homecoming game and formally crown the Homecoming queen at half-time ceremonies. Representative Whitaker's home is at Russellville.

Seniors Of '51 Class Applying For Degrees

An announcement released by Mr. E. H. Canon, registrar, states that seniors expecting to be graduated in either June or July should come to his office at once for the purpose of applying for their degrees and to make out their programs for next semester.

This is necessary in order to avoid conflicts that cannot be worked out at or after registration.

The Western Hilltopper football team, which has shown great improvement since October 7, will meet the Maroons of Eastern Kentucky State College in the feature Homecoming event, and the game promises to be the outstanding football attraction to be played in Kentucky that day. A capacity crowd of Homecomers and football fans, in general, is expected to fill Western's stadium to see the game.

A Note of Welcome
President Paul Garrett, in discussing the 1950 Homecoming, said that Western was making plans for an outstanding Homecoming. He urged all alumni, former students, and friends who can possibly do so, to get together on College Heights for the program. "Your coming back to Western will make all happy," he said, "and we will do everything within our power to make you glad that you came."

Pre-Homecoming festivities will get under way next Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Western stadium. Kelly Thompson, assistant to the President, said that the program would begin promptly at 6:30 with special band music and a cheering demonstration led by the Western cheerleaders. Exactly at 7:00 o'clock, Western's powerful array of stadium lights will be thrown on.

A thirty minute program under the direction of Ted Hornback, head of the department of physical education will then take place. Greetings from President Garrett, remarks by the

Religious Week Closes Today

Dr. N. C. McPherson was scheduled to speak in chapel on "How Dark is the Future?" at 10 a. m. today in the last of a series of messages delivered here during the annual Religious Emphasis Week.

Services have been held daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. since the program began Tuesday.

Subject for Students
In the first of the series, Dr. McPherson spoke on "Power of a Purpose." He stressed the importance of pressing on toward a spiritual goal with one increasing purpose. "More important than a good memory is a good forgettery," Dr. McPherson stated. "Forgetting both past achievements and past failures, it is possible to strive on to new perfection in Jesus Christ."

Other messages were "Living to Excess," "Facing Life Unafraid," "A Life and a Living," "How Mature Are We?" and, last night, "The Portals of God."

Seminars were conducted by the Rev. M. R. Owen on "Thus Saith the Lord," and the Rev. Dr. Harold J. Purdy on "Maximum Christian Living." On Thursday night Dr. Purdy conducted a special seminar on "Love, Courtship, and Marriage."

Miss Marilyn Harris has spoken at the noon day devotional periods held each day at 11:55-12:10 in the Little

Welcome Back

Any student will tell you that there's a pleasure in home not to be found elsewhere. The same thrill comes when an alumnus revisits the campus that once was his.

Next weekend, hundreds of men and women educated on the Hill will be seen strolling about old paths and walks, opening the doors to their former classrooms, and chatting with used-to-be classmates. Again the Western campus will be theirs.

The warmest part of it all is the handshakes and "how are you's." They're all here. Yesterday's campus queen, today a mother of four; basketball star then, coach now; burder of midnight oil, a doctor now—all so different, yet for one weekend all the same.

Maybe they come home looking for something—let's call it the spirit of Western. The late President H. H. Cherry called it "the spirit that makes the master."

They'll find this spirit in renewed bull sessions in the Van Meter lobby, in the Homecoming football game, in breakfasts and luncheons, and in other festivities reserved for that time each year when the alumni come home again.

We hope that this year's set of college students will add a sizeable part to the overall Homecoming spectacle. When the energetic, questioning undergraduate meets the more settled and experienced alumni, the philosophy of each should be enriched by the other.

Homecoming is a time to forget your troubles from finances to girl trouble, and satiate yourself for a weekend in the Spirit of the Hill.

That spirit will be recaptured when former students from all over the country greet the campus next weekend. We, the students, of 1950, say "WELCOME BACK, HOMECOMERS!"

If your story doesn't appear in the Herald, it may be that you haven't reported it to us. Our office is on the second floor of the Administration building.

An Active Club

The lively display of student enthusiasm at the last football game here is a thing Western can be proud of. The knowledge that the student body was solidly pulling for them no doubt helped the team win the game. It was a rejuvenated stadium.

Mere chance was not back of the strong yelling section. It took thought, plans, and hard work to resurrect the formerly dead student spectators. Initiating and leading the movement was the youngest club on the Hill, the Physical Education club.

They have backed up this year's very energetic set of cheerleaders.

Sponsoring the first Homecoming Queen was the first project of the club after it was organized last fall. Again this year, the Physical Education club has the job, as well as several others in connection with Homecoming.

The new club's aim of promoting student interest in athletic and social events is fast being realized.

Back of this has been energy, interest, and willingness to do extra work, not just what's demanded. The product has been a booster shot for Western's school spirit.

We believe that this group has a great future. Our congratulations and best wishes go to this growing youngsters among the clubs—the Physical Education club.

"It's not easy, but I always make it back for Homecoming."

Mind Your Manners

By Evelyn Bailey

Roommates Are People Too

As I sat at my desk at 12:30 a.m. the night before the deadline, exerting my brain in searching for a subject to direct a lesson of manners upon, I looked into the mirror at my tired eyes, and then across the room to a dreaming figure curled under a warm blanket, and there was my subject—roommates.

Roommates are the last things we could do without except the alarm clock, but we often feel that some of their qualities of manners and behavior could be improved.

A survey recently published in the Going-to-College Handbook by Outlook Publishers states that college students all over the United States rank consideration as the most important characteristic of a good roommate.

According to the survey, a good roommate is considerate about lights, radio, and general use of the room, solving any problems by arbitrary decision, and not thinking chiefly of himself and using the facilities just to his own advantage.

A good roommate respects personal property and privacy, and doesn't go rummaging around to see what can be found in that odd little chest or that box tied with a blue ribbon, which is in the bottom dresser drawer.

The third most desirable characteristic reported by the survey is loyalty. A good roommate would never betray the ecstasy of a good-night kiss as you related to her (or him, understand) with the utmost confidence.

Borrowing anything without asking is not a policy of a good roommate. Although his roommate may have given him a blanket permission to cover borrowing, he realizes that it is unmannerly and often unwise to use things of others at his own will.

Helping to keep the room neat is one of the best ways for roommates to assure amity between themselves, and leaving clothes and books scattered around definitely opposes such a relationship.

The sixth desirable quality noted in the survey is a serious and important one. It is the ability to discuss controversial questions without getting ruffled. Heated arguing seldom results in anything but ill feelings, especially when the "discussion" is about either individual's religion.

On down the list of likable qualities is that of keeping reasonable hours, in so far as teachers will permit, of course. Unnecessary noise can, without too much planning, be finished before one's roommate retires.

By cultivating and practicing a cheerful disposition roommates can bring to each other the lift and pleasant fellowship they should impart.

The hardest adjustment to make in becoming happy and content in living with someone is to realize that you not only have a roommate, but also that you are one.

Homecoming Again And, Of Course, Queens Too

By VERNON STONE

I'm not sure why it is, but homecomings are always in the fall. Maybe the tranquility of autumn weather lends itself to reminiscence. There could be some connection with the fact that birds migrate back to their warmer homes this time of year. Then again it's probably just tradition.

Whatever the rhyme or reason, every college paper we've seen lately has been a homecoming edition, with plenty of eye appeal in the form of campus Queens for the Day.

Georgetown College and Evans College, like Western, will celebrate homecoming next weekend, while Western Michigan State, the University of Kentucky, and the University of Louisville are greeting the alumni this weekend.

Today is Hoedown Day at Western Michigan, where all students are wearing blue jeans and calico dresses to signify "The spread of the college to the west." The festivities include football, a bonfire, a tug of war, general rejoicing—but (the administration requests) no cider jugs.

George Washington University reports that a furor was created last Friday when the two Homecoming Queens appeared on TV. The two girls were the only members of their sex (except a cat or two) in the station, and Announcer Bill Herson had trouble keeping the station's staff out of the way, while he interviewed the pulchritudinous young ladies. "You know," he said, "it's amazing how every man in WNBW came in to say hello to good old Bill."

POPULAR MUSIC PREFERRED

When I asked Mr. Miller for his opinion on why "Southside, U. S. A." made such a big hit when shown here in its two performances, he said:

"I believe this production proved that college students and the other people in Bowling Green really enjoy popular music—songs they have always known and enjoyed."

He also mentioned the fact that spectators too often forget the job being done by the workers backstage. Scenery and timing was nothing short of perfect, thanks to them.

A lot of real and promising talent was seen, as well as a superb job of production, direction, and music arrangement. "Southside, U. S. A." was a show to be proud of.

JUST ONE YAWN

The only sign of boredom that I noticed during the show was among a group of under-privileged youngsters brought to the show by the Boy's Club. During the bathing suit strip act, a ten-year-old lad gave a frightful yawn. He wanted Hopalong Cassidy.

CHOW LINE CUTTERS

My appetite is usually about normal and I have normal patience for standing in line, that is—unless...

Unless some shapely girl (my wording is limited) comes cooling up to some boy wanting in line "please." Unless a couple of P.C.'s decide that the rear of the line is meant for plebeians, not for them. Unless the line cutters start forming lines to cut line. Unless my part of the line starts retreating from the macaroni and carrots.

Morehead's paper, the Trail Blazer, carries a column in which the names of "Chow Line Cutters" are listed. Not a bad idea.

A WOMAN EDITOR

Last year the UK Kernel's joke column went pretty much uncensored, but this year Bob Fain complains that his column, "Profaintense," is being tampered with, in fact, about two-thirds of his jokes aren't getting in.

Last year's editor was a man; this year's, a woman.

Looking Backward

Twenty-five years ago—Governor William J. Fields and Lieutenant Governor H. H. Denhardt were chief speakers at dedication of the new Training School building. . . . Paul Whiteman and orchestra opened concert season for Western.

Alumni Flashes

By

RAYMOND C. HORNBACK

Route 2, Louisville, Ky.

DINNER AND BRIDGE: Recently Mrs. Jack Thompson, formerly Roma Mather, and her husband Jack were the gracious hosts to a group of Westerners at their home on Saratoga Drive in Louisville. . . . Alumni President Roy Owsley was there. And right in the middle of his story about how he obtained his first job as high-school principal and coach (and by-the-way the last one of that type) Roma asked him if the City of Louisville is going to include in its next budget the paving of the street running in front of the Thompson house? City Consultant Owsley scratched his head and came up with the only possible answer, a weak YES-er - I'll-do-what-I-can. "But," interrupted Roma, "I don't want that street paved, it makes traffic too fast, and it isn't safe now for the children." "YES! YES! YES! Your request will gladly be granted," replied Roy. . . . It seems that Owsley was trying to obtain a job as high-school principal and when he arrived at the school ground where the chairman of the board of education was playing baseball with a group of youngsters, he was drafted as one of the players before he could get a formal introduction to the chairman. Soon he came to bat and smashed out a homerun (and at this point I think Bob Turner was rather cruel when he asked "was it town ball?") and the board chairman gave him the job.

Bub Ellis and his wife, the former Alma Basham, were there. And, of course, all the oldtimers asked about Tom and Curley. Tom is coaching in Covington and Curley is a supervisor in the R.E.A. at Hopkinsville. Bub is a supervisor of agents for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. with offices in Louisville.

Bob and Hallie Turner added much to the life of the party. Bob has accepted the principalship of Roosevelt Elementary School until Eddie Belcher returns from his South American trip. . . . Both Daisy Nell and I enjoyed the dinner party very much.

ON FOURTH AVENUE: As you know, your columnist pounds Fourth Street daily as an advertising account consultant for the Courier Journal and Times and daily comes in contact with a Western grad or somebody who knows a Western grad. . . .

EUGENE ASHBY

One member of this year's senior class has an ambition that is really worth-while. Eugene Ashby says, "My ambition is to help educate the lay public to some of the needs of secondary education in the field of English, especially in curriculum revision."

Anyone who knows Eugene knows that he speaks this with real sincerity, for he is one of the best-liked fellows on the campus.

He has taught two years in Leslie county and five in Ohio county. He plans to return to Leslie to teach.

During World War II he spent 38 months in the Army Medical Corps. A native of McHenry, Eugene was valedictorian of his high school class. He is married to the former Lella Begley, Hyden, Ky. They have one daughter, 8 years old.

Eugene says basketball is his favorite sport, especially when the Hill-toppers are playing it. His hobby is collecting stamps and old coins and he likes to work on electrical and mechanical devices.

Ah, Nuts!

Squirrel Goes Hunting

Parched peanuts, cracked hickory nuts, and patience. That's what you need to make a pet out of a wild squirrel.

At least, that's what goes to the cordial squirrel which visits Mrs. Ora Knauer, a stenographer in Miss Rita Runner's office.

Every day this mama squirrel, often accompanied by her family, comes to the window. Mama Squirrel knows where the goodies are kept and will insist on being fed.

The sleek little squirrel looks mighty pert as she sits on Miss Knauer's shoulder and partakes of her snack. Papa Squirrel frowns through the window as if to say, "Ah nuts!"

Walter Knight, research director for the Louisville Chamber of Commerce and one of my associates on the teaching staff of the D. A. E. School, University of Louisville, receives many interesting inquiries from all over the United States. Several days ago a 42-year-old woman asked him for information regarding "rather aged" wealthy men who might be interested in marriage. So you see, Westerners everywhere are still engaged in campusology.

IN THE MAGS: Just read "Life" October 16 issue "U. S. Schools, They Face a Crisis", and did I tell when I read "teachers colleges bring an inferior faculty and an inferior student body together in an inferior plant." This is true, no doubt, in many cases but probably no more so than in all other types of colleges and universities. CERTAINLY not true in the case of Western, a great faculty, students, and plant.

AT THE LUNCHEON CLUB: Had lunch last week with a Western grad who has made good in the business field. . . . Jewel Wright, formerly a big shot in Muhlenburg County educational circles and now a top producer for the John Hancock Mutual Insurance Company with offices in the Starks Building.

OLD BUDDIES: Peck Nisbet, who holds a key job in the testing laboratories of Tube Turns, Louisville, has purchased a Gentleman's Estate near Fern Creek. The last time Daisy Nell and I dropped by he and Eva were engaged in some remodeling, and before we could depart they put us to work.

"We Write To Sell"

Graduate Says Writing Is A Craft

By VERNON STONE

"Writing is a craft and can be taught just like any other profession. If a person has ideas, a sincere urge to write, and the ability to put words on paper, the rest can be learned."

This statement sums up the opinion of Mrs. Ann Pence Davis, novelist, short story writer, and teacher who visited the Western campus last week.

A MEMBER of the class of 1925, Mrs. Davis was here doing research on a projected novel which is to have a Kentucky background. She said she hopes to "stick to a strict writing schedule this winter."

For the past three years most of her time has been spent in teaching others to write. Together with W. S. Campbell and Dr. Foster-Harris, Mrs. Davis has conducted the summer Writers Conference at the University of Oklahoma. Of this, she said:

"The students in the conference come from everywhere to learn professional writing. That's what we teach them—to write to sell."

"We teach them to become good technicians, craftsmen of writing first. Artistry comes later. The immediate aim is to sell to magazines. The students learn to judge what the editors are buying, then write to please, which is to sell."

"In the long run, a person is always writing to please the reader."

This idea is present in the title of Mrs. Davis' first novel, "The Customer Is Always Right," a group fiction book which came out in 1940. She said that her next novel will have a central character instead of group actors.

PROOF OF pleasing the customer (in this case, the reader) is to be found in sales. Mrs. Davis has recently sold short stories to the (Toronto) Canoe Star and Hollands magazines. She is author of the Mimi books for girls.

One of her students has sold a book to Republic Pictures, and Dr. Harris has in his career sold more than 1500 short stories.

As for her own training, Mrs. Davis said that she took not one writing course at Western—she was "too interested in sports and things like that." She later studied creative writing at the Universities of Oklahoma, Colorado, and California.

For a hobby, she enjoys landscaping and gardening. A native of Bowling Green, the author now lives at Wichita Falls, Texas, where she says she stays busy "trying to take the naked look off the prairie."

Her advice to the young person who aspires to write is to start writing, if only as a hobby.

"Write down impressions. Write anything, but write something; the only way to learn to write is to write. And," she cautions, "never forget the reader."

In the words of the novel by Ann Pence Davis, "The Customer Is Always Right."

North Ky. Alumni Club To Meet In Newport

Western's Alumni Club of North Kentucky will meet for its 20th annual luncheon at 12:30 p. m., Friday, Nov. 10, in the York Street Congregational Church in Newport.

Dr. Mary I. Cole, of the education department, will be the speaker. Registration may be made by contacting Fred Burger, Dry Ridge, Ky.

Miss Frances Anderson, of the history department, says that the attendance throughout the life of the club has been good, and she expects this year's to be the best meeting. She will attend the meeting.

Voice from the rear of the taxi; "Hey, driver, what's the idea of stopping."

Driver: "I thought I heard someone tell me to."

Voice: "Keep going, she wasn't talking to you."

Professor (after final exam): Well, what did you think of the course?

Student: I thought it was a very inclusive course. Everything that wasn't covered during the year was covered on the final exam.

T. D. Rawlings Joins Psychology Department

A former Veterans Administration guidance worker, Travis Dean Rawlings, has joined the psychology department for the semester.

While attending the University of Kentucky, he worked with the Veterans Administration at Lexington, in connection with the university, doing vocational guidance and psychological testing work.

Mr. Rawlings was born in Sharpshurg, Bath county, and attended elementary and secondary schools at Bethel, Ky.

Entering the navy in 1943, Mr. Rawlings attended Berea College for one semester before being sent to midshipman's school at Columbia University.

Mr. Rawlings held the rank of Lieutenant Junior grade at the time of his discharge from the navy. Returning to Kentucky Wesleyan in 1946 he received the bachelor of arts degree in 1947.

His major field was mathematics with a minor in biology and chemistry. He attended the University of Kentucky from 1947 to 1950, doing graduate work in psychology. His major is in experimental psychology and personnel work.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 5...THE GNU

"I gnu the answers...but I wasn't talking!"

The debating team couldn't make much use of this non-talkative baby...but one look at his "literary leanings" tells you that tests don't buffalo him. *Specially those tricky cigarette tests! As a smoker, you probably know, too, that one puff or one sniff—or a mere one-inhale comparison can't prove very much about a cigarette!

Why not make the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test. You judge Camel mildness and flavor in your own "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) ...for 30 days. Yes, test Camels as a steady smoke and you'll see why...

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

CHAPEL QUEEN

Western and Eastern coaches and captains will open the program. Presentation of the candidates for Homecoming queen will be a feature of the program, following which, W-Club representatives and others will appear briefly at the microphone.

Pep Rally Fireworks

At 7:30 p. m., the lights will go off and the rally will be climaxed with a demonstration of fireworks, which is expected to surpass the colorful 1949 exhibition. The annual Homecoming dance will follow at the Western gym, starting at 9 o'clock.

The Homecoming committee urged that everyone, planning to attend the rally, be on hand promptly as the program would be run on precision timing in order to make way for the football game to be played at 8:30 between Bowling Green and Hopkinsville.

Saturday will be marked with numerous group activities including a breakfast for the Western players at 9 a. m., a Homecoming get-together chapel at 10:30 a. m., college open house beginning at 4:30 p. m., the W-Club dinner at 7:00 o'clock, and the Homecoming Shadow Hop at 9 p. m.

Refreshments will be served during the open house at Potter Hall, West Hall, New Residence Hall, the Cedar House, and the Kentucky Building. The Kentucky Building will be open throughout the day except during the hours of chapel and the football game. Receptionists will be on hand to conduct tours of the Kentucky Building.

Homecoming Chapel

Dr. H. L. Stephens, Homecoming chairman, stated that the Homecoming chapel program would be under the direction of Professor Hugh Johnson, Dr. Ward Sumpter, Dr. C. H. Jagers, and that Professor

C. A. Loudermilk, president of Western's W-Club, would preside.

A typical Homecoming chapel program has been arranged and will include presentation of the football coaches and football seniors, selection of the Homecoming queen, band music, and cheerleading. The program will end with the recognition of guests.

Dr. Stephens said that an unusually colorful half-time performance would be given jointly by the Western and Eastern bands. The Eastern band will move on to the playing field first. Following its performance, the Western band will take over, and at the conclusion of its program, the crowning of the Homecoming queen will take place. Both bands will join in a final number.

The Western physical education club, which has charge of the selection of the Homecoming queen, will direct the half-time coronation.

Chemistry Club Plans ACS Trip

The Chemistry club will attend the American Chemical Society at Vanderbilt November 10, speaker for the occasion being A. H. Corwin, who will speak on "Ricin."

That club attended the local club meeting on October 18, when Dr. Karl Beyer, Director of Research, Sharp and Dohme, spoke on the "Relation of Chemical Structures to Physiological Properties."

Repeat Performance

TWO SINGERS in "Southside U. S. A." were Bill Miller and Norma Culen. The musical revue, directed by Russell H. Miller, starred a host of Western talent. Proceeds go to the local Boys Club.

"Goodbye My Fancy" Will Be Opener For W. Players

By Kenneth Hall

"Goodbye, My Fancy," the first regular play of the Western Players for the 1950-51 season, has been tentatively set for Thursday, December 7, according to Russell H. Miller, director.

The Players contributed greatly to "Southside U. S. A.", the community project that during its two showings here scored such a success.

On College Life

The play is a comedy dealing with the antics of college life and was written by Fay Kanin.

A play-reading committee, composed of faculty director, Russell Miller, and the officers of the club, Frank Bacon, president, Kenneth Shore, vice-president, Judith Griffin, treasurer, Joe Kimbrough, historian, and Sarah Cummings, secretary, chose this comedy after considerable deliberation.

The comedy hit left the Broadway critics delighted and presented Madeleine Carroll to new audiences that responded with astounding applause. It is the story of a liberal Congresswoman who returns to her old school for a commencement weekend to be awarded an honorary degree.

The Critics Say

The critics were unanimous in the endorsement of Fay Kanin's interesting and intelligently-devised comedy. Time—"A diverting play... Life—"New comedy hit... Newsweek—"An articulate, intelligent and thoroughly enjoyable evening... The New Yorker—"Skillful and notably well-acted play containing a timely message."

"One of the most delightful comedies of the season-1949. It fits the theater like a glove..." said Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times.

"A grand comedy!... The theater works in 'Goodbye, My Fancy'... a stage piece that is steadily entertaining throughout..." Ward Morehouse, New York Sun, said.

"Fay Kanin has written an ardent, adult play with laughter on the surface and underneath, a fierce, almost frightening cry for common-sense..." "Goodbye, My Fancy"

Jesse Stuart Speaks At TDEA

Jesse Stuart, Kentucky educator and author of twelve books, five hundred short stories, and innumerable poems, spoke to the morning session of the TDEA at 10:00 in Van Meter auditorium October 20.

He complimented the Third District for having the "finest looking teachers in this part of the country."

His speech concerned the background for his recent novel, "The Thread that Runs So True." The background was his own life experiences as he related them from his childhood days in the Kentucky hills through his teaching and writing days of later life.

After varied teaching and being principal of Greenup county high school, Mr. Stuart said he came to the conclusion that it is the teacher's job to "work to save a pupil."

He expressed his indebtedness to Dr. Edwin Mimms of Vanderbilt, who taught him, inspired him, and gave him his start in writing.

Mr. Stuart concluded his enthusiastically received talk with the urge for all of us to "pull together to build Kentucky."

United Nations Display

The United Nations is playing an important role in the affairs of our modern world. This has caused an increased interest among students and other people of the functions and organization of this group.

Recently there has been a display in the library of the books on the United Nations. These included such titles as "The United Nations Organization Handbook" by Andrew Boyd; Louis Dolivet's "The United Nations," "Charter of the United Nations," a commentary and documents by L. M. Goodrich; and T. P. Galt's "How the United Nations Work."

Another interesting group of books useful in a study of the member nations of the United Nations is the United Nations Series. The library has the following books in this series: "The Netherlands" by Bartholomeus Landheer; "Belgium" by J. A. Goris; "Poland" by B. E. Schmitt; "Australia" by C. H. Grat-tan; "Brazil" by L. F. Hill; "China" by H. P. MacNair; "New Zealand" by Horace Belshaw; "Czechoslovakia, Twenty Years of Independence" by R. J. Kerner; and "Yugoslavia" by R. J. Kerner.

These books discuss the geography of the country, the historical background, the political and constitutional development, the economic conditions, the social and cultural aspects, and the foreign relations through World War II and after.

ON THE BULLETIN board in the library is a world map showing the important events of the past week and giving their locations on the map. A new map is put on the board each week.

NEW REFERENCE BOOKS received reflect the increased interest in countries across the oceans. In "Universities of the World Outside U. S. A." material on institutions of higher learning in countries from Afghanistan to Yugoslavia is presented clearly and specifically. Housing, admission requirements, and student are among the topics discussed.

"The Advanced Atlas of Modern Geography" by Jalin Bartholomeu, English cartographer par excellence, is a new work with a long tradition. Among new features are population maps of the continents and an introduction of a simplified system of geographical coordinates. "Dictionary of Folklore, Mythology, and Legend" published by Funk & Wagnalls Company, brings together in one alphabet information on gods, folk heroes, and folklore of the world.

MEMBERSHIP IN book clubs which distribute fiction and non-fiction of popular appeal and up-to-date interest brings many books to the Western library. Selections of the Book-of-the-Month club, Literary Guild, and History Book club are regularly received.

This year membership in the Fire-side Theatre is bringing to us plays in book form. The following, popular on Broadway, have been received: "South Pacific," popular musical adopted from James Michener's book; "Lost in the Stars," by Maxwell Anderson, a dramatization of Alan Paton's novel of Africa, "Cry, the Beloved Country"; and "The Innocents," based on Henry James' sort story, "The Turn of the Screw."

J. C. Bigbee recently withdrew from classes from Western to accept a position in Covington, Ky., Junior High school to teach sheet metal. He expects to return to Western next summer.

"The Confederate Veteran"

Two valuable files of "The Confederate Veteran" were received this summer by the Kentucky Library. They were presented by Miss Woodford Dulaney of this city and Miss Louise Jones of Evansville, Ind., formerly of Smiths Grove.

The library has a complete file from the first issue, January 1823, to the last issue, December 1932, with a separate index volume. For thirty years this monthly publication was the official organ of the United Confederate Veterans, an organization composed of nearly every man who survived his service in the confederate forces of the Civil War.

Use of this magazine is necessary for historians to become familiar with the experience of the Southern people during, and after, the Civil War. The subject matter includes historical articles, biographical sketches, poems, personal narratives of both men and women, as well as the activities of the United Confederate Veterans.

The gradual deaths of the veterans brought to an end the need of such a publication. One section of it was devoted to the activities of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, an organization made up of descendants of the men of the Confederate service. This is still a very large, active group throughout the South.

MISS BETTIE MORGAN, formerly of Bowling Green, but now of Louisville, recently has sent the library several interesting items—Circa 1880 for our Bowling Green collections, and a history of the Episcopal Church of the Advent, Louisville.

MRS. ANNE PENCE DAVIS, AB'25, author of the novel "The Customer Is Always Right" and the "Mimi Books," a series of stories for girls, spent October 23 in the Kentucky Library. A native of Bowling Green, Mrs. Davis now lives in Wichita Falls, Texas. She is at present working on a child's book with its plot laid in Kentucky. Dorothy Grider, AB'36, will make the illustrations for it.

CORRECTION: In the October 6 issue of the College Heights Herald an error concerning visitors to the Kentucky building was made. The article should have read as follows: "The attendance was 2305 during the months of summer school, not during the summer vacation."

Are you one of the unfortunate persons to have torn some article of clothing on a broken seat in the auditorium of Van Meter? Such misfortune will not likely happen again soon.

The Industrial Arts students spent several hours last week repairing broken seats scattered about in the auditorium. It is now the opinion of the repairers that visitors, faculty members, and students may wear the most delicate attire they own without fear of seats tearing seats.

JOHN T. JOHNSON, a senior from Bowling Green: "Realizing I would graduate in June."

Four Of Faculty Do Radio Shows

Four of Western's faculty members are featured on regular radio programs broadcast over local radio stations.

Dr. A. M. Stickles, head of the history department, gives his views of national and international affairs on WLBK at 1:00 p.m. Sundays.

Coach E. A. Diddle may be heard in sports program over WLBK each Thursday and Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Mary Moore, Librarian at the Kentucky Building, conducts a Kentuckyiana program over WLBK each Friday afternoon at 4:45. Miss Elizabeth Combs and Gayle Carver also appear in the radio discussions.

"Invitation to Reading," by Dr. and Mrs. Earl A. Moore, will be resumed over Station WKCT Nov. 8. The definite time of the broadcast has not been announced, but it will be broadcast each evening Monday through Friday sometime between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Classical Association Termed Successful

The Kentucky Classical Association meeting, which was held here October 20-21, proved highly successful, according to Miss Sibyl Stoner, cipher of the foreign languages department.

Both college and high school teachers participated in discussions and attended the programs, the banquet, and the tea given by the Classical club.

"Enthusiastic interest and enjoyment was expressed by all who attended the meeting," said Miss Stoner.

Miss Emma Yates of the Holmes High school at Covington, was elected president of the Association.

Noah Britt Receives Ph. D. At Ohio State

Noah H. Britt, BS '39, has received the Doctor of Philosophy degree at Ohio State University, Columbus, according to an announcement from that university.

While at Western, Dr. Britt majored in biology and minored in chemistry and English.

Schoolmasters Hear

Carlos Oakley, AB '31, used the theme "What's Right with Kentucky Schools" as he spoke at the annual fall meeting of the Schoolmasters' club, on Tuesday evening, October 24.

He said that it is the responsibility of schools to inform citizens of this Commonwealth that Kentucky has produced as many great leaders as any other state.

Mr. Oakley is now superintendent of the Union County schools.

Story By Grad Appears In Saturday Evening Post

John H. Claggett, a student at Western from September, 1933 to June, 1936, has had a short story published in the October 28 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The story, "The Skipper Was Scared," was partially based on Mr. Claggett's experiences in 1942, as the skipper of a PT boat on Guadalcanal. While in the navy, he was also the executive officer of a Motor Torpedo Boat squadron.

Mr. Claggett, who was on the sport's staff of the Herald in 1936, left Western after three years to enter Annapolis, and graduated from the naval academy in 1940.

He was sent to Guadalcanal in the early days of the war, and was seriously wounded there when his boat was hit by Japanese shells. He was sent home, and spent the next two years in naval hospitals, later being discharged a Lieutenant Commander.

In 1943, Mr. Claggett married a navy nurse, and returned to Annapolis for another year of study.

He entered the foreign service in 1947, and spent two years in Oslo, Norway, as the vice-consul. On returning to the United States in 1949, Mr. Claggett took up writing seriously, and sold one of his stories to Colliers. Like the new one in the Post, that story was also partially based on his experiences in the navy.

The scene of "The Skipper Was Scared" is laid in the Solomon Islands. It is the story of a PT boat skipper, branded a coward by the men under his command, who saved his men and his boat, at the risk of losing his own life.

Captain Joins AROTC Staff

Capt. Frank A. Tarbutton of Sudlerville, Md., was assigned to the Army ROTC staff at Western as instructor and assistant professor of military science and tactics.

Captain Tarbutton graduated from Western Maryland College in 1942 and entered the army that same year. He attended the Infantry Officer Candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., and received his commission as a second lieutenant of infantry in March, 1943.

While serving almost two years overseas with the 78th Infantry division, he was awarded the bronze star medal and ETO ribbon with three battle stars.

He was separated from the service in April 1946 under the demobilization program in effect at that time.

After his discharge, Captain Tarbutton entered the training specialist field with the Veterans Administration when he joined the Maryland State Department of Education. He remained on this job until his recall to extended active duty for 21 months service on October 12, 1950.

Toppers Slated For Delta Clash

Western backfield Coach Turner Elrod, who scouted the Delta State eleven last week at Evansville, expects rough going all the way in tomorrow night's clash with the Statesmen at Cleveland, Miss.

"The team that wins will probably be the club that gets the breaks," Coach Elrod theorized. "They run it nicely."

One of the mainstays in the Delta line will be the 185 pound senior Frank Bufkin at guard. The backfield will feature quarterback Fred Foster, a triple threat of whom anything has to be expected.

The Toppers will be priming for the all-important homecoming battle with Eastern the following Saturday.

The Delta State Greenies will enter the tilt with a 5-2 record. Their victories include a conquest of Mississippi Southern, one of the toughest among the south's smaller colleges. Last week the Greenies dropped a 19-0 decision to Evansville at Evansville. However, a team official stated at that time that their flaws would be worked out and they would be ready for the Western game.

The Topper pass defense which has shown up well in recent games will face a severe test. The Greenies are expected to take to the air and they may prove dangerous with this medium.

Head Coach Clayton said the Toppers would be forced to play as good or better ball than they have this season if they expect to win.

Sportfolio

By Aubrey Tucker

The magazine Sport Life, one of the top national sports magazines, has been tooting the horn for Hilltopper basketballers. Leonard Ansell, the writer of these crystal ball cage callings, picks Western as one of the country's ten top quintos and ventures the guess that they'll be high men in this section. Ansell has some flowers for big Rip Gish.

Insiders say Gish will hit his top stride this season. Gish played ball at a summer resort during vacation and Ansell reports Gish looked better than ever before.

The Courier Journal's Earl Ruby is expecting big things of the Olympians of Indianapolis what with Ex-Topper Bob Lavey, Eastern's pride Chuck Marazovich, and Morehead's star, Sonny Allen helping to starstud the roster.

A Daily News headline of Sunday November 22 went "Xavier proves Card not ready for big time by 36-13. Louisville dropped from the Ohio Valley Conference year before last. Some say they were looking for bigger game than OVC championships."

As the Toppers gridders went through their paces at practice the other day, prize tackle and co-captain Roy Hina was momentarily halted with a hurt ankle. Told what the trouble was, Coach Jack Clayton explained "You can't do that. I haven't got enough tacklers."

Here's one for the books. The Bowling Green Purples have gone two consecutive Saturdays without finding it necessary to punt.

Speaking of ailments reminds us of the ball players who finally went to the doctor with a two month old case of dermatophytosis (athlete's foot). The doctor inquired somewhat perturbed "You mean you've gone two months without doing something about those feet?"

"Doing something about 'em?" the athlete retorted "Doc I've scratched hell out of 'em two hours before going to sleep every night for eight solid weeks."

Ex-Western basketballers are doing all right for themselves when they no longer don the red-and-gray. The Baltimore Bullets enjoy the service of Carlyle Towery and Sheboygan has acquired Buddy Cole and Johnny Givens. John Oldham is with Fort Wayne.

The new Louisville pro outfit is studded with Western performers Dee Gibson, Don Ray and Odie Spears are in there plugging and Alex Downing is coaching the Knights. Bob Lavey is with the Olympians as previously reported.

One account of the Georgetown game reported that Othe Robinson intercepted a pass and rumbled over the goal line. That just doesn't seem like the right word. Robbie, although 210 pounds, is a fast man at that weight. A runner with fast choppy strides, he played frosh football at Michigan and ought to prove valuable here.

This column's best go to Ex-Westerners Jimmy Hanes, Pat McNeil and Herb Lewis. Hanes and McNeil have tutored the Russellville powerhouse into seven victories without a loss this season. Lewis' Valley High boys of Jefferson County have won five without defeat in state competition. The lone deadlock came about in an encounter with New Albany.

A notable improvement at the Georgetown game was the spirit and backing of the student cheering section under the new arrangement. The big Morehead victory probably contributed and there's something about football on an autumn Saturday afternoon that the big flood lights can't duplicate.

Freshman Cage prospect from Nashville, Tom Marshall, was interviewed on the air at half time of the T P I-Western game. Reports are that 6'5" Marshall moves a lot faster than he talks.

Sammy Short, who has been a big help in the recent Western victories, was tackled hard in the T P I game. Sam, a comparatively light back reportedly rose from one bone crushing encounter with a Tech lineman, smiled wryly, and with a characteristic gameness addressed the lineman "I like for you to tackle me, you're so easy about it."

Toppers Advance Notch In O. V. C.

Tigers Lose To Hillmen 39-13

By George Hunter

Western leisurely bowled over Georgetown 41-13 before 3500 fans under the warm sun of Saturday, October 21.

Willie Watson punctured the Georgetown defense with a consistency that provided the Toppers four touchdowns and a safe margin to allow some activity for the yet unsold jerseys of untalented.

First-Half Touchdown

Watson's four touchdowns were supplemented by another when big alert Otho Robinson touched in an interception and galloped past the zero stripe. Yet another was added when Freshman end, Bill Tate, capitalized on another Georgetown error.

Enjoying a 41-0 advantage at the half-way mark, Western Coach Jack Clayton withdrew the crack forewall combination and utilized these tested veterans only to anchor the fresh material in the line.

It was midway in the third canto before Georgetown was able to violate the Topper goal line. Jim Franklin of the visitors claimed a stray Topper pitchout, and his teammate quarterback Ronnie Pinchback scored from the two.

Pinchback Scores

The Georgetown gridders rated full credit on their next goal crossing. The march began at their own 45 and got into high gear as Pinchback hit Jay Turner with a 21 yard aerial. It was again Pinchback who culminated the effort.

The successful Western passing attack, which Holzknecht led with 134 of the 210-yard accumulation, highlighted the offensive. Weak early in the season Topper passing found ready receivers in Bobby Billyau, Bill Ploumis, and John Sowder.

Ray Weaver, freshman tackle, was effective in the line. He gave Georgetown backs a rough time of it when they picked his spot to attack.

ROY HINA, co-captain, is a workhorse in the Western line this season. He pairs with Co-Captain Joe Talley to anchor the Topper fore-wall.

A Top performer injured early this season, Leo Magers has not completely regained normal use of his shoulder and will remain out this season to let the injury heal completely and save his eligibility.

The college business office personnel say Jim Sacco big Topper end is the only music major they know of who ever attended Western on a football scholarship.

Eastern, Western--Twain Shall Meet Homecoming

By Aubrey Tucker

The homecoming game with Eastern a week from tomorrow has a precedent history of excitement and story book finish that will furnish an electric tension for the hundreds of returning Alumni at Western Stadium.

Western fans will not soon forget the classic rags-to-riches finale of the 1941 season. Playing desperately before 5500 fans against time and a 20-0 handicap as the second half opened the Toppers refused to let returning Westerners down. When the smoke cleared away the Toppers emerged victorious by 27-20.

Victory in 1948

There was a repeat performance to this tale in the 1948 season when again favored Eastern fell before the Topper onslaught 14-13.

This time the Toppers got the jump on their ancient homecoming rivals. Jim Pickens caught the Maroons flat footed and rifled two touchdown aerials to Jewell Browning. Tom Montelli applied the toe to a pair of perfect placements to round out the 14-0 lead the Toppers sported at half time.

Eastern was not dead. They crossed the Toppers goal line twice in the third chapter, but one of the two conversion attempts failed and homecoming fans joyously cheered the triumphant Toppers when the final whistle sounded, for a 14-13 victory.

Saturday a week from tomorrow brings once more to the Western stadium a traditional rivalry heaped with the characteristic nostalgia of homecoming.

A Powerful Machine

For the third time in a decade Eastern will bring a powerful football machine, this time bent on the victory it must have for survival of its OVC hopes. There is much to indicate that Western will have its hands full. The Eastern line is a prize collection of big burly boys. They will, according to backfield coach Turner Elrod outweigh the Topper linemen and average of 5-10 pounds per man. Coach Elrod estimates the average backfield weight superiority of the Maroons will be from 5-15 pounds.

The Toppers will have at their disposal Gene McFadden who returns to the active roster from an injury. McFadden was an important instrument in the defeat of Morehead.

Of the 22 occasions in which Western has faced Eastern, on the gridiron, Western has captured 17 victories. Prior to World War II the standing was 16 win and 2 losses for Western.

The Homecoming fracas is scheduled for 2 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 11.

Western Romps Over TPI 21-0

Western took over number three spot in the Ohio Valley Conference last Saturday, October 28, by virtue of a 21-0 shellacking of Tennessee Tech.

The Toppers moved out front in the opening quarter with a seventy yard sustained drive after halting a similar surge of Tech on the Western three.

Watson's Fireworks

In the dying third quarter the revitalized Toppers began to lay the ground work for jacking up the victory insurance with two more pay off thrusts. Willie Watson started the fireworks that resulted in the first touchdown, with four goal crossings under the belt from the previous week's pasting of Georgetown.

Willie (the Wisp) sucked in an enemy pass on his own 30.

Slippery Sam Short and Bob Elmer then kept the 10 yard chain moving and 13 plays later the Toppers found themselves in possession of 6 points. Butch Gilbert, whose talented toe provided the field-goal margin of victory over Morehead, then added the first of the extra markers he provided for each touch down.

Short put fire in the second goal-line march after crowning the initial long-range movement with success. This time the Toppers advanced 52 yards and Max Stevens scored from close in.

Dashes and Points

The Toppers were hot again and Stevens lassoed a Tech pass on his own 20 and moved to the Tech 44 before being stopped.

This effort matured prosperously when Dewey Smith barreled his way over from the eight.

Soph wingman Bubber Simpson contributed 27 yards of the last touch down march, 14 of these on a pass reception from Jimmy Felix. Starting at the 14 yard line Dewey Smith battered the Tech line three times to tally the final TD.

That T F I trouncing ought to strike a warning note with Murray and Eastern that the Topper's early season's weaknesses were a little deceptive and that these boys are out for blood from here on in.

Cadets Attend Rifles Meet At Indiana-U.

Cadet Capt. John H. Evans and Cadet Lts. John H. Simpson, Jr., Eugene P. Tanner, L. Rhea Taylor, Jr., and John G. Jameson, Jr. attended a Pershing Rifle business meet at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, October 25.

have the case reopened, the order to report for induction is a continuing obligation on the registrant with which he is expected to comply at the termination of the postponement period.

Postponed, Not Deferred

"Operations Bulletin No. 1 is intended to serve as a guide to local boards in determining which college students properly should be considered for deferment—in distinction from postponement—in an effort to carry out the desire of the Congress to provide the fullest possible utilization of the Nation's technological, scientific, and other critical manpower resources as expressed in the Selective Service act, Section 1(e) and 6(d)."

"A student may be considered for deferment if he has completed at least one academic year of a full-time course of instruction in an institution of higher education; if he was in the upper half of his class during the last academic year he was enrolled; and if he has arranged prior to August 1, 1950, to enroll in a full-time course of instruction for the academic year ending in the spring of 1951."

"This means that a registrant may be classed in class II-A until the close of the academic year or for such other period as the board might determine, not to exceed 1 year."

Keep Board Informed

"At the end of this deferment, the registrant must again present to his local board a request for deferment if he desires it and submit such information as the local board requires in support of his request."

"Further clarification of the relationship between the Act and the Operations Bulletin was set forth in this telegram from the Director of Selective Service to State Selective Service Directors dated September 28, 1950:

"Please advise local boards that Operations Bulletin No. 1 does not supersede Section 6(d) of the Act which provides for the postponement of the induction of a college student who while pursuing a full-time course is ordered to report for induction. A registrant may be denied a deferment but he may not be denied a postponement if he is entitled thereto under Section 6(d) of the Act."

COMPARE CHESTERFIELD WITH ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

BEFORE YOU SMOKE THEM

...you can tell Chesterfields will smoke milder, because tobaccos that smell milder smoke milder.

AFTER YOU SMOKE THEM

...you have no unpleasant after-taste.

WHILE YOU SMOKE THEM you get more pleasure than any other cigarette can give you—that's why millions of
